

North

The North of Iceland is a spectacular area to visit and is home to Akureyri, the capital of the North and a lovely city overlooking Eyjafjordur bay whilst the charming fishing village of Husavik is the whale-watching capital of Iceland. The Lake Myvatn area is teeming with volcanoes, craters burbling springs, fissures and it's the place to be if you're looking to go dog-sledding or (heli)skiing. The Myvatn Nature baths offer weary adventurers the perfect place to rest and rejuvenate after long days exploring.
