

Flights to Singapore

Direct flights to Singapore take around 13 hours from the UK. Singapore Airlines, British Airways and Qantas fly from Heathrow. Singapore Airlines also has direct flights from Manchester five times per week.

Connecting flights are available on a number of carriers including Emirates, Qatar, Finnair, Lufthansa, Malaysia Airlines, Swiss, Thai, and more.

Return flights can often be found for about £400 although many people visit Singapore as part of a longer trip within Asia or further afield to Australia or New Zealand. In this instance, you may wish to arrange a ticket with a stopover built in. If you'd like suggestions on flights or for us to book airfare as part of your holiday, please give us a call at UK 020 7112 0019 or email singapore@fleewinter.com, we're happy to advise.