Andalucia has a tremendous amount to offer for a family holiday and a climate that offers year-round opportunity for exploring the great outdoors. From the action-packed and adrenaline-pumping surfing and pot-holing, to the slower yet active cycling and walking, to total relaxation by the pool...

Southern Spanish culture embraces the youngsters so there is no part of the day or night where they can't be included and it's commonplace to see prams and toddlers to young teens dining out late in the warm evenings.

Exploring Andalucia as a family is a lot of fun with plenty of adventure, fascinating history and culture and a relaxed pace of life that creates the perfect backdrop for a low-stress holiday.
